I. Partnership for professional opportunities for JMP LIFELINE students

A guide for students of the EC2U Joint Master Programme LIFELINE

The European Campus of City-Universities (EC2U) is an alliance of nine universities and more than 60 local partners. Together, they build a human-centred, collaborative and sustainable model of university life, in which students study, move and connect across Europe and learn in close contact with the cities and regions that host them.

This guide is written for students of the integrated master's programme JMP LIFELINE – Lifelong Well-being and Healthy Ageing, the EC2U joint master's degree linked to UN Sustainable Development Goal 3 "Good health and well-being". LIFELINE is a two-year, 120 ECTS programme taught in English, with a Healthcare track and a Welfare track. It trains experts who understand ageing and well-being from biological, psychological and social points of view, and who can work across health, social care and community services.

Knowledge becomes competence when it is used in real settings. For this reason, EC2U WP4 (SDG 3) has mapped, in every partner city, the hospitals, care providers, NGOs, public authorities, companies and student organisations that are ready to open their doors to LIFELINE students. This document brings these partners together in one place, with the professional opportunities each of them offers.

A. Objectives of the Partnership

The Partnership for professional opportunities aims to:

- Connect learning with practice – give LIFELINE students access to internships, placements, volunteering and field work in health, social care and healthy-ageing settings across the Alliance.
- Build employability and transferable skills – offer skills workshops, mentoring, career webinars and open lectures that prepare students for the labour market and for careers such as well-being and healthy-ageing advisor, social welfare adviser or community care case worker.
- Link research and real needs – invite partners to propose master's thesis topics based on challenges they face every day.
- Support mobility and a European outlook – help students discover professional contexts in other EC2U cities, alongside the mobility already built into LIFELINE.
- Strengthen university–community cooperation – make EC2U associated partners active co-educators and grow a lasting network around SDG 3 in each city.

B. How to use this list

Each university has its own section, starting on a new page. Every section contains one table, with one row per partner:

- Partner – the name of the organisation, its type (EC2U associated partner, external company or new partner) and, where available, the contact unit.
- Website – a direct link to the partner's own page. Visit it to learn what the organisation does.

- Professional opportunities – internships, placements, volunteering, jobs and programmes that the partner offers or advertises.
- Other ways to connect – skills workshops, career webinars, open lectures, master's thesis topics and other formats.

Find the right starting point

- Alexandru Ioan Cuza University of Iași (UAIC), Romania – 8 partners (page 4)
- University of Coimbra (UC), Portugal – 8 partners (page 6)
- Friedrich Schiller University Jena, Germany – 6 partners (page 8)
- Johannes Kepler University Linz (JKU), Austria – 7 partners (page 9)
- University of Pavia (UNIPV), Italy – 8 partners (page 11)
- University of Poitiers (UP), France – 6 partners (page 13)
- University of Salamanca (USAL), Spain – 7 partners (page 14)
- University of Turku (UTU), Finland – 6 partners (page 15)
- Umeå University (UMU), Sweden – 7 partners (page 16)

BEFORE YOU APPLY

1. Choose a partner whose field matches your track (Healthcare or Welfare) and your interests.
2. Open the partner's website to see what is available now.
3. Talk to your LIFELINE coordinator, your career office or the EC2U Connect Centre – they can put you in touch with the partner.

Good to know: availability, selection, timing, language requirements and any payment or funding depend on the host organisation and change from year to year. Always confirm the details directly with the partner before you apply.

II. Professional opportunities by university

The following pages present the partners of each EC2U university and the opportunities they offer to LIFELINE students.

III. Conclusions

This list brings together the partners of the nine EC2U universities that host LIFELINE activities and shows, in one place, the professional opportunities they open to students: internships and placements, volunteering, mentoring, skills workshops, career webinars, open lectures and master's thesis topics.

For LIFELINE students, the Partnership is a bridge between the classroom and the professional world of well-being and healthy ageing. It helps students test their knowledge in real settings, build a European professional network and prepare for careers in health, social care and community services.

For EC2U, the Partnership makes the cooperation between universities and their cities concrete and contributes to the Alliance's commitment to SDG 3 "Good health and well-being".

The list is a living document. Partners and offers change every year, and new organisations – such as ADV Iași and Caritas Iași – keep joining. It will be updated regularly and made available on the EC2U website and the EC2U Connect Centre. Students are encouraged to use it actively, to contact their LIFELINE coordinators early, and to share feedback so that the Partnership keeps growing with their needs.
