Final curriculum design for the multilingual joint Master Programme in European Languages and Cultures in Contact

DELIVERABLE 5.1
MONTH 6

D5.1 Final curriculum design for the multilingual joint Master Programme in European Languages and Cultures in Contact

---

I. Basic data and admission criteria

Denomination

Master of Arts in European Languages and Cultures in Contact (multilateral joint master degree).

Admission prerequisites

In order to enter the official Master programme, candidates must hold an official degree issued by a higher education institution belonging to a member state of the European Higher Education Area that entitles access to Master degree programmes in any given partner country.

Graduates from educational systems outside the European Higher Education Area may also be admitted if students hold an equivalent university degree. In this case, admission will be subjected to verification by the seven university administrations.

Admission criteria

There are two criteria for the selection of students: academic background (affinity in terms of academic discipline) and transcript of records. These criteria will be used to prioritise new applications until the quota established each year by the master's coordination committee is covered.

II. Curriculum outlines and objectives

Curriculum outlines and objectives

The launch of the Master Programme in European Languages and Cultures in Contact is one of the activities of the workplan of the European project European Campus of City-Universities (EC2U), approved in July 2020 under the action EPLUS2020-AG of the EPP-EUR- Topic UNIV-2020 of the ERASMUS + Programme.

The proposed master programme is a multilateral one implying seven partner universities and will be taught in several languages:

- The first semester will be studied at University 1.
- The second semester can be studied at any partner university (University 1 or University 2).
- The third semester must be studied at University 2 or at any other partner university (University 3), but not at University 1.
- The fourth semester (Master's thesis) can be studied and written at any partner university. Only one restriction will apply: Students will only be allowed to study two semesters at one university.

European Campus
of City-Universities

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme
of the European Union

- Students will choose courses from taught in any language they speak.
- The Master thesis will be in the form of “co-tutelle” between two universities. Students will choose between a research master thesis and a more professional-oriented dissertation, resulting from students’ internships in research and professional environments, to be selected from a pocket of protocols with private and public, local and national agencies/organisations in the fields of translation, tourism, research centres, culture and the arts, cultural and linguistic mediation, language planning, administration, across the consortium’s institutions.

The proposed multiple Master will be awarded by all universities at which the student has studied for an equivalent of at least 30 ECTS.

Students will achieve the following objectives and general competencies:

- an in-depth knowledge of the European linguistic and cultural landscape
- communication skills in multilingual and multicultural settings
- sensitivity to language and cultural diversity
- intercultural competences for the European job market
- an use of advanced research methods in the academic fields of language and cultural contact and diversity.

Career and employment horizons

After the completion of the Master, students will be able to do high profile research in language and cultural related topics across Europe and proceed to start with a PhD programme or work as experts in European languages, language diversity and European cultures for the industry and for local, national and international bodies (for example as multicultural business advisors, multilingual project managers, diplomats, transcultural communication officers).

III. Structure of the master programme

Number of ECTS

120

Structure and syllabus

The following modules will be offered by all partner universities

- European Modern Languages and Linguistics
- European Modern Literatures, Cultures and Societies
- Research Methodologies and Discourses in Europe
- Master’s thesis

Each university will offer in the first and second semester compulsory optative courses (Wahlpflichtfächer) in two areas of study (European Modern Languages and Linguistics; European Modern Literatures, Cultures and Societies). Each university will offer optative courses in these two areas of study in the third semester.

The module « Research Methodologies and discourses in Europe » will be composed of three common virtual courses (one per semester) for all students.

The master's thesis will be in form of « co-tutelle » between two professor of two different universities.

Semester 1 (University 1)

- 10 ECTS Discourses in Europe (online, common to all universities)
- 10 ECTS European Modern Languages and Linguistics (compulsory optional courses)
- 10 ECTS European Modern Literatures, Cultures and Societies (compulsory optional courses)

Semester 2 (University 1 or 2)

- 10 ECTS Research Methodology in European Modern Languages and Literatures (online, common to all universities)
- 10 ECTS European Modern Literatures, Cultures and Societies (compulsory optional courses)
- 10 ECTS European Modern Languages and Linguistics (compulsory optional courses)

Semester 3 (University 2 or 3, but not 1)

- 10 ECTS Research Methodology in European Cultures and Societies (online, common to all universities)
- 10 ECTS European Modern Languages and Linguistics (optional courses)
- 10 ECTS European Modern Literatures, Cultures and Societies (optional courses)

Semester 4: 30 ECTS Master's thesis (cotutelle)

IV. Contents and learning outcomes

Contents

Following contents will be studied:

- European Modern Languages and Linguistics (30 ECTS)
- European Modern Literatures, Cultures and Societies (30 ECTS)
- Discourses in Europe (10 ECTS)
- Research Methodology in European Modern Languages and Literatures (10 ECTS)
- Research Methodology in European Cultures and Societies (10 ECTS)
- Master's thesis in European Modern Languages and Linguistics or European Modern Literatures, Cultures and Societies (30 ECTS)

Learning outcomes and competencies

The students will achieve the following basic competencies and learning outcomes:

- They will gain and understand knowledge that provides a basis or opportunity for originality in developing and/or applying ideas, often in the context of research.
- They will be able to apply the knowledge acquired and their ability to solve problems in new or unfamiliar environments within broader (or multidisciplinary) contexts related to their field of study.
- Students will be able to integrate knowledge and handle the complexity of formulating judgements based on incomplete or limited information that include reflecting on the social and ethical responsibilities linked to the application of their knowledge and judgements.
- Students will be able to communicate their conclusions (and their underlying knowledge and reasons) to specialists and non-specialists clearly and unambiguously.
- Students will possess the learning skills that enable them to continue studying autonomously.

Students will achieve the following specific learning outcomes and competencies:

- An advanced knowledge of research methodology in contact linguistics, in the study of European literatures and their interculturality.
- The ability to locate and manage specialised bibliographic sources on contact linguistics, comparative literatures, interculturality and intertextuality, knowing how to locate and manage on- and offline documentary collections and applying information and communication technologies to the field of specialised philological research.
- An advanced knowledge about the different methods of analysis that allow for the interpretation of texts from a linguistic perspective as well as from a literary and cultural perspective.
- Development of the ability to apply the appropriate scientific methodology to cover the different types of linguistic, literary and cultural studies.
- An advanced theoretical and practical knowledge of the different situations of contact between European languages.
- An advanced theoretical and practical knowledge of the different situations of contact between European literatures and cultures.

- An in-depth knowledge of the cultural elements of European nations and to develop their capacity for intercultural analysis.
- Theoretical and practical knowledge that will enable the study of heritage languages and cultures to be incorporated into contrastive and comparative research into European languages, literatures and cultures.
- The necessary skills to carry out original research work in one of the philological fields covered by the master's degree.

V. Teaching methods

Following teaching methods will be applied:

- European Modern Languages and Linguistics (30 ECTS): face-to-face research seminars and/or practical courses
- European Modern Literatures, Cultures and Societies (30 ECTS): face-to-face research seminar and/or practical courses
- Discourses in Europe (10 ECTS): virtual lectures
- Research Methodology in European Modern Languages and Literatures (10 ECTS): virtual lectures
- Research Methodology in European Cultures and Societies (10 ECTS): virtual lectures
- Master's thesis in European Modern Languages and Linguistics or European Modern Literatures, Cultures and Societies (30 ECTS): Research master's thesis

VI. Languages

The proposed master is not only a multilateral master, it is also a multilingual one. Students will be required to have a very high command of at least two Modern European languages at a C1 level. They should also understand English.

Students will be able to choose courses in Portuguese, Spanish, French, Italian, German, Finnish, Romanian and English.

VII. Mobility

Mobility is an integral part of this master programme. Students will have to study at least 2 semesters at another partner university (the second, third or fourth semester). The third semester will always be studied abroad.

Students will freely choose which of the partner university or universities they will be studying at during at least two semesters. Mobilities will be jointly managed by the EC2U European Universities Alliance and by the international offices of the partner universities using mobility tools and grants available to all partners (e.g. Erasmus +).

Please note that the content of this activity / deliverable is available in the different languages of the EC2U Alliance upon request.
